Registration and Nationality of Ships

by Georgy Mishael

The Minister of Transportation of the Republic of Indonesia has issued Minister of Transportation Regulation No. 39 of 2017 on Registration and Nationality of Ships ("MOTR No. 39/2017"). Registration of Ships based on MOTR No. 39/2017 includes registration of property rights, the imposition of a mortgage, and registration of other material rights to the ship.

Article 5 paragraph (2) of MOTR No. 39/2017 explain that a ship which may be registered in Indonesia is a ship with a gross tonnage size of at least seven gross tons, is owned by an Indonesian citizen or legal entity established under Indonesian law and domiciled in Indonesia, and owned by an Indonesian legal entity which is a joint venture majority owned by Indonesian citizens.

For registration of the property rights of ships originating from the procurement of ships by way of entering a foreign-flagged ship must be accompanied by a certificate of deletion from the list of ships issued by the flag state of origin of the ship. The making of a ship registration deed may be rejected if there is a court decision that has permanent legal force over a claim from third party to the ownership of the ship. The owner of the ship will be granted a gross registration deed as evidence that the ownership rights of the ship have been registered.

Ownership rights of ships under construction both domestically and abroad may, according to article 14 of MOTR No. 39/2017, be registered provisionally in Indonesia with a temporary registration deed on the condition that the physical ship construction has reached the completion stage of the hull, main deck, and all upper buildings. Registration of ship ownership may also be removed from the Indonesian ship list. This abolition may be made at the sole request of the ship owner or by court of law or a court decision that has permanent legal force. Article 26 of MOTR No. 39/2017 makes it clear that the abolition of registration of property rights of ships from the list of Indonesian ships does not remove property on a ship and may be re-registered.

Pursuant to article 28 of MOTR No. 39/201, ships that have been registered in the list of Indonesian ships can be used as collateral for debt with the imposition of a mortgage on the ship. The mortgage recipient of the ship may be an Indonesian citizen or foreign national, national or international bank, national or international institution, or a national or international non-financial institution. Especially for passenger ships of all sizes and gross tonnage of five hundred or more that have been registered in Indonesia and used for international shipping, must have ship history documents in accordance with the provisions of legislation.

If the ship that has been registered in Indonesia is to make a sea voyage, then the ship will be given the National Ship Signs of Indonesia as proof of nationality of the ship. To indicate the identity of Indonesian ships, the ship must fly the Indonesian flag as a national flag on the stern of the ship, listing the ship's name and place of ship registered, and call sign the ship's radio station. Pursuant to article 81 of MOTR No. 39/2017, the ship is prohibited from using the same name as another ship as the identity of the ship, and the name of the ship must consist of a series of letters and numbers but should not begin with the numbers, and the name of the ship must be in capital letters. Indonesian-flagged passenger ships with one hundred gross tonnage or more and Indonesian-flagged cargo ships with three hundred gross tonnage or more carrying international shipping must put down an International Maritime Organization Identity Number.
